Third former top city official pleads guilty

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Three former top city officials in Belle Glade will serve no jail time and have no criminal records after pleading guilty to taking city property for their personal use.

This week, the last person awaiting a court hearing, former Public Services Director Gene Simmons, pled guilty before a West Palm Beach Judge to charges of official misconduct and grand theft.

The judge withheld adjudication, as he did in the case of former City Manager Lomax Harrelle and former Sanitation Director Danny Perez. This means that Simmons, Harrelle and Perez will not have criminal records for taking city property and using it for their personal gain.

All three men were given 18 months probation. Simmons must pay $281 in court costs, $600 for the cost of his prosecution and another $400 in restitution for money he admitted he took from a city petty cash fund.

The investigation of wrongdoing by city officials began early in August, when a city worker reported tires missing from the public works department. It expanded into an investigation conducted by the Belle Glade Police Department and the State Attorney's Office.

Simmons resigned from his job on Aug. 6, the same day Perez was arrested for grant theft. Harrelle also resigned the same day.

Simmons was later found with a long list of items belonging to the City of Belle Glade at his Wellington home. Perez, who was in a trucking business called T & R Trucking with the former city manager, was found to have material belonging to the city on the trucks.

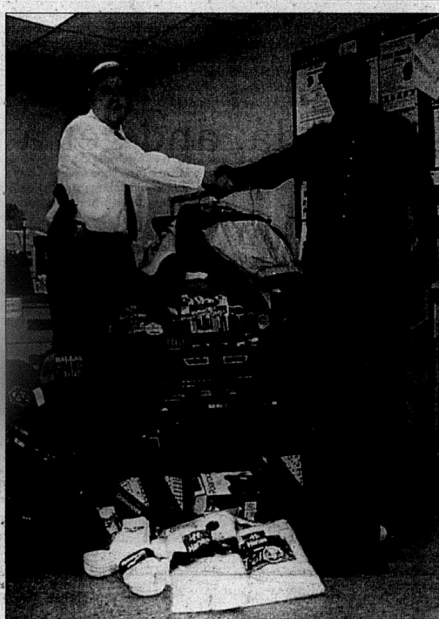

Chief Michael Miller, who has been the acting city manager since August, said the investigation is over and no more arrests are expected.

Both Harrelle and Simmons were paid a month's severance pay and their unused sick leave days by the commission in August, but now, city officials say they will probably seek repayment from both men for the severance pay.

"The case has just concluded," said Chief Miller. "There are several options open to get restitution of the severance pay, including civil action. The matter will go before the city commission," he said.

The city commission is actively seeking a new city manager and has narrowed a selection list down to three candidates. A new manager is expected to be hired within the next few weeks.

City Commissioners voted Monday night to give Acting City Manager Miller $5,000, and Interim Public Service Director Tommy Cone $2,500, for filling in the positions while continuing to do their regular duties.

BELLE GLADE - A store owner who was robbed twice in less than two weeks got his merchandise back last week after Belle Glade Police arrested a man who still had the merchandise in his possession.

Patrick Brockman, 20, was arrested last week on charges of burglary of a business, possession of burglary tools and resisting arrest without violence in the incident.

Brockman allegedly robbed The Super Merchandise and Food Market at 265 West Avenue A on Oct. 27 and again on Nov. 9.

Taken in the first robbery was about $350 in cash and $1,500 worth of merchandise. In the second robbery on Nov. 11, the burglar took $4,000 in cash and assorted clothing.

Grassy Waters Festival is Sat. on lake shore

PAHOKEE - Organizers of this year's annual Grassy Waters Festival and Car Show in Pahokee promise a fun-filled day of activities and food for everyone.

The one day event is planned for this Saturday, Nov. 21 on the shore of Lake Okeechobee.

"Although there is no stated theme this year," says Media Relations Chair Larry Wright, "you will come away with a feeling of peace and contentment derived from the day's activities."

The festivities actually begin on Thursday evening at the Good Shepherd

Church of God on Bacom Point Road with the annual Gospel Songfest at 7 p.m. The music and song are provided by all local talent.

On Saturday, the festival begins with the 5K Walk/Run at 7 a.m., followed by the ever-popular bed races and the "Crazy-boat" regatta. This year, other schools in the county have been invited to submit their homemade "crazy-boats" and organizers are expecting some ingenious designs.

There will also be an art show, filled with works of

Water's still safe to drink, say officials

Seeing red over the yellow? Don't worry, the water's still safe to drink, say officials.

Last week, Belle Glade residents may have been asking themselves, "did someone forget to flush?" Light to bright yellow water has been flowing from home faucets and tanks for over a week and citizens are concerned the water may not be safe to drink. But, Public Safety Director Michael Miller says it is, and so does the Palm Beach County Health Department. "We want to stress, yes, we've got a color problem, but the water's safe to drink," says Chief Miller.

The city has been testing the water every day, according to Ken Robinson, Administrator of Utilities, and health department officials have also been testing the water regularly. And while they too are not pleased with the color, they state in a letter to the city that they understand unusual circumstances have caused the problem.

This is the second time this year Belle Glade residents have noticed yellow-colored drinking water at their home taps. That's due to two storms - Tropical Storm Georges and the most recent SR 715 - A man and woman were killed last Friday night as they walked along Bacom Point Road between Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Police say Michael Pittman, 39, and Annette Johnson, also 39, were struck by a Cadillac driven by Robert Mobley of Pahokee while they were walking in the northbound lane just before 10 p.m.

Lt. Pembroke Burrows said Mobley immediately stopped his car and sought help after the accident. Both lanes of traffic were closed during the incident and traffic was backed up for over an hour.

HIGHWAY 27 - An accident which delayed traffic on U.S. 27 near John Stretch Park, took the lives of two men early Monday morning and left another in serious condition.

Police say Hubert J. Jackson Jr., 25, of Fort Myers, was headed north on U.S. 27 when he lost control of his 1999 Chevy Tahoe. He drove off the road and then over-compensated while pulling the steering wheel to the left. The Tahoe rolled several times and landed in the southbound lane. Jackson was ejected from the car and his body was struck by southbound driver Henry Stapleton, 65, of Moore Haven. After striking Mr. Jackson, Mr. Stapleton's Isuzu Sweeper then hit the Tahoe, causing his car to flip and he was thrown from the vehicle.

Omar Artis of Fort Myers, a passenger in Mr. Jackson's car was taken by Trauma Hawk to St. Mary's Medical Center in serious condition.

Milton Carpenter named president of American Orchid Society

Life-long Glades resident Milton O. Carpenter was elected 28th president of the American Orchid Society (AOS) during the nonprofit organization's meeting in Los Angeles at the end of October. Carpenter's term will run for two years.

One of the world's foremost experts on orchid hybridizing, Carpenter is the proprietor of Everglades Orchids in Belle Glade, founded in 1968. He is also president of Carpenter Insurance, a firm he opened in 1952. With a specialized interest in the Oncidiinae and Cymbidiums, Carpenter has attempted more than 10,000 orchid hybridizations, and has registered more than 300 new crosses with the Royal Horticultural Society. He is a much-requested speaker on the orchid society and garden club circuit, and is a frequent contributor to the orchid community's many reference works, including the American Orchid Society's award-winning monthly magazine, Orchids. He has been an Accredited Judge of the AOS since 1982.

Carpenter was born in Pahokee on Christmas day, the son of an insurance/real estate agent and farmer. He is a survivor of the 1928 hurricane. In 1951 he married the former Nancy Lee Seger of Rockford, Illinois. The couple have three daughters - Colette Rumfelt, Karen Bourgeois and Peggy Brady - and eight grandchildren. Carpenter has had active, long-standing roles in a number of civic organizations, including Rotary International. He is a former Palm Beach County School Board member, past president of the Belle Glade Lions Club and a trustee at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade. Mr. Carpenter was named Agri-Industrial Man of the Year by Belle Glade's Chamber of Commerce in 1996.

Carpenter has honored his homeland by naming some of his hybrids for the area he loves. Among these are Cymbidium Belle Glade, Cymbidium Pahokee, and Cymbidium Everglades.

"Orchids are God's greatest creations in the plant family, with 30,000 species scattered over the globe," says Carpenter. "Growing and studying orchids has afforded me the precious opportunity to make friends around the world. I'm honored to be chosen as president at this exciting point in the Society's history."

Founded in 1921 to extend the knowledge, production, use and appreciation of orchids, the American Orchid Society today is the world's largest plant society, boasting nearly 30,000 members in 118 countries worldwide. The nonprofit scientific and horticultural organization has distributed more than $600,000 in research grant monies; publishes one monthly and two quarterly magazines, as well as myriad educational brochures, handbooks and cultural materials; is deeply involved in orchid conservation activities; oversees nearly 550 AOS Affiliated Societies around the globe; operates an interactive Information Services Department where experts provide answers to orchid-related queries, including those put to the organization through the Internet and its popular Web site (OrchidWeb); and offers an unrivaled selection of orchid reference books to its members and the general public.

The AOS is currently in the midst of a capital campaign to raise funds for its move to a five acre site in western Delray Beach. The Society's Board of Trustees, overseeing nearly 200 dedicated volunteers, approved in Los Angeles plans to proceed with a programmed state-of-the-art educational and cultural facility, including gardens, greenhouses, a world-class reference/research/special collections library, a museum and a theater. For more information about the Society's capital campaign, call Holly Lee, the Society's director of philanthropy, at 561-585-8988.

For more information concerning the AOS's new president, or the Society, contact Lee Cooke, the organization's executive director, at 561-585-8666.

Fill your tank, buy a soda, and get a weather update

Most people are surprised to learn that I have never seen a tornado. I guess everyone just assumes that meteorologists are eyewitnesses to every type of atmospheric phenomena.

I've certainly observed my share of foul weather, including several tropical storms and hurricanes, plenty of thunderstorms and lightning, a handful of hailstorms and even a blizzard, but never a tornado.

I have, however, heard a tornado.

My close audio encounter with a twister occurred in Topeka, Kansas, where I worked for a local television station. It had been a typical spring "night in eastern Kansas as a series of severe thunderstorms" rumbled across the plains.

Suddenly, a tornado warning was issued for my area. I jumped in front of the camera to warn everyone about the approaching storm. As I was describing various safety precautions, I heard a low rumbling noise that seemed to originate outside the studios.

Since I was just a bit preoccupied, I ignored the clamor and continued with the warnings. Only later did I discover the sound I had heard was produced by a tornado.

By Mike Lyons
WPBF-TV

Our news crew had a busy night, chasing and videotaping several tornadoes in the area. When I wasn't updating our viewers on the severe weather, I would talk with the crews, telling them where the severe storms were headed.

Today, television crews in Kansas can depend on their local weather information or just head to a Phillips 66 gas station.

The Phillips station in Hutchinson, Kansas recently installed four new fuel pumps, complete with regular unleaded, supreme and a five-inch color television. Now, customers can fill up their gas tank while getting updates on the weather.

"Ninety-nine point nine percent of the time, we're going to have the Weather Channel on," Kevin Brown, vice-president of marketing for T&E Oil Company told Weatherwise Magazine. "Our customers will always know what kind of weather is down the road."

The TV is turned on as soon as a customer begins pumping fuel. The screen fades to black when the nozzle is returned to the cradle. So, the length of the weather update depends on the size of the gas tank.

While that may seem like a brief period of time, it's long enough for motorists to get the information they need.

"We've had customers on their way to Texas watch the TV and notice the big storms were ahead," said service station manager Mary Ann Post. "That gave them an idea what to expect."

On sunny, calm days in the central plains, Fast has the option of changing channels. "A lot of customers like catching up on the ESPN scores," she said. But, when Mother Nature turns nasty, the TV is updating motorists on the weather.

"Storms around here crop up pretty quickly," said Fast. "Here in Tornado Alley, the TV is especially helpful."

Now, that's what I call a full-service gas station!

Palm Beach County remains under medical alert for SLE

Sentinel chickens continue to show recent SLE infections, confirming SLE transmission is continuing in the local natural environment.

The medical alert for SLE continues for all of Palm Beach County, and the Health Department is advising Palm Beach County residents, especially the elderly to take precautions to avoid mosquitoes at dusk to dawn hours.

No human cases of SLE disease have been reported in Palm Beach County. The department is stressing the use of personal precautions to avoid mosquitoes when outside at dusk to dawn hours. Standing water from Tropical Storm Mitch is allowing mosquitoes a continued opportunity for breeding which increases blood feeding activity and populations. Newly hatched mosquitoes are expected to emerge within the next few days from heavy rainfall left by Tropical Storm Mitch. Residents are reminded to keep their guard up despite the cooler temperatures and use precautions to avoid biting mosquitoes. The dryer, cooler and less humid conditions of our local winter season does not outright kill mosquitoes, but does result in less successful breeding and significantly lower populations during the winter months.

Six sentinel chickens were confirmed positive for SLE on Friday, November 14. The locations are two in Royal Palm Beach, one in West Palm Beach, two in west Lake Worth, and one in Belle Glade. The total number of confirmed SLE positive sentinel chickens for this year is fifty-three. Florida residents and visitors can call the Department of Health's toll-free hotline for weekly updates on SLE at 888-880-5782. Information is available on the hotline in both English and Spanish.

The following personal measures to avoid mosquito bites are recommended when outdoors at night and at dusk and dawn hours:

- Wear long sleeve shirts, long pants and socks, along with the use of insect repellents.
- Use insect repellents that contain DEET (diethyltoluamide) when outdoors at dusk, dawn and nighttime hours. Parents are advised to use repellents on children that contain less than 10% DEET. Read repellent labels carefully to ensure the product is for use on children and use as directed. Promptly wash repellent off the skin when the outdoor exposure is over.

- Ensure that screens on windows, doors and patios are in good repair to prevent mosquitoes from entering the home. Remove or frequently empty containers which collect water outdoors.
- Be alert to heavy mosquito biting activity when outdoors at nighttime. If biting activity is intense, even when using precautions, consider going indoors. Precautions are especially important when near heavily vegetated or wooded areas.

with organics in the water, it creates cancer-causing compounds.

Another factor, according to Mr. Robinson, is the location of each city's water intake. Pahokee's intake is in open water, away from land, and is not usually affected by backpumping. South Bay and Belle Glade's primary intake is in the rim canal.

Mr. Robinson said the readings have been dropping this week and he believes that possibly by this weekend or at least in the next 10 days the water should clear.

Water/continued from p. 1. storm, Tropical Storm Mitch, which drenched the area with over 10 inches of rain in two days.

Mr. Robinson said backpumping into the lake from many sources causes more color in the water. "For example, the color in the lake is usually 80 color units and when they were backpumping it got as high as 480 units," he said.

Belle Glade has two intake pipes which draw water for the city's drinking water from the lake. One, the Rim Canal Station, is by the Chosen Bridge, the other is on Torrey Island. Mr. Robinson said the city is considering installing another intake valve behind the Belle Glade Marina Pavilion, where the water is affected less by the backpumping. A restudy is being done to determine the feasibility and cost of this venture, he said. Mr. Robinson estimates the costs could run between $200,000 to $500,000.

South Bay and Pahokee do not have the problem with high coloration in the water after storms as Belle Glade does.

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout is designed to help change some facts about tobacco use in this country.

Fact #1: Smoking is the most preventable cause of death in our society. Tobacco use is responsible for nearly one in five deaths in the United States.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Office on Smoking and Health estimates that cigarettes kill 418,690 Americans annually compared to:

- 105,095 deaths by alcohol
- 46,300 deaths by car accident
- 30,906 deaths by suicide
- 29,939 deaths by AIDS
- 24,932 deaths by homicide
- 9,463 deaths by illegal drugs
- 4,300 deaths by fire

Fact #2: In 1995, the overall population of smokers, including someday smokers, totaled 47 million Americans. Of these 47 million, 24.5 million were male and 22.5 million were women.

Fact #3: Based on data from the American Cancer Society's Cancer Prevention Study II, smoking accounts for 29% of all cancer deaths and approximately half of all continuing smokers die prematurely from smoking.

Fact #4: It is estimated that 171,500 new cases of lung cancer will be reported in 1998, accounting for 14% of cancer diagnoses. The incidence rate is declining in men, from a high of 87 per 100,000 in 1984 to 74 per 100,000 in 1994. Recently, the rate of increase among women has begun to slow. In 1994, the incidence rate in women was 42 per 100,000.

In Florida, 12,900 will be told they have lung cancer and 12,000 will die of the disease this year.

In addition to being responsible for 87% of lung cancers, smoking is also associated with cancers of the mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, pancreas, uterine, cervix, kidney and bladder.

Since 1987, more women have died each year of lung cancer than breast cancer, which, for over 40 years, was the major cause of cancer death in women.

Nearly four million American adolescents currently smoke cigarettes and about one in every five male students in the 9th through 12th grades uses smokeless tobacco.

According to the National Health Interview Study (NHIS), 81% of current smokers would not start smoking if they could do it over.

Projected pattern of smoking and smoking-related deaths

What's in a cigarette?

The 1988 Surgeon General's Report on Nicotine Addiction concluded:

- Cigarettes and other forms of tobacco are addictive.
- Nicotine is the drug in tobacco that causes addiction.

Nicotine is absorbed readily from tobacco smoke in the lungs and from smokeless tobacco in the mouth or nose. With regular use, levels of nicotine accumulate in the body during the day and persist overnight. Thus, daily tobacco users are exposed to the effects of nicotine for 24 hours each day.

• Tobacco smoke contains over 4,000 chemical compounds, including at least 43 different carcinogenic substances.

• Fingernail polish remover, otherwise known as acetone, is a poisonous gas and an insecticide which is an ingredient found in cigarette smoke.

• Cigarette smoke contains cyanide, a deadly poison.

• Cigarette smoke contains formaldehyde, a chemical used to preserve dead frogs for high school biology labs.

• Cigarette smoke contains methanol, a wood alcohol. Taken in sufficient amounts, methanol can cause blindness. It is also used as an additive in, or substitute for, gasoline.

• Cigarettes contain tar, a conglomeration of the solid particles found in smoke. They combine to form a sticky brown substance that can stain your teeth and clog your lungs.

• Cigarette tobaccos used in the US and in most Western European countries have changes over time, using higher nicotine content, which enhances the levels of carcinogenic substances.

• Several flavor-enriching materials are added to low-yield cigarettes to make them more "consumer acceptable". Little is known about the fate of such flavor enhancers during smoking.

MEDICAL NEWS OF NOTE

Tylenol product has new name

McNeil Consumer Products recently began marketing Tylenol Extended Relief under the new name, Tylenol Arthritis Extended Relief. The company discovered the widespread use of the product by arthritis sufferers and changed the name. According to Dr. Anthony Temple, McNeil's executive director, approximately 60 percent of doctor recommendations for Tylenol are for the management of arthritis pain. He said they changed the name to "make the product easier for arthritis sufferers to find in the stores."

Dr. Steven Berney, professor of medicine at Temple University, Philadelphia, Penn., stated that approximately 45 percent of the estimated 40 million arthritis sufferers in this country are over age 65. He said acetaminophen, the medicine in Tylenol, is the pain reliever most often recommended by doctors for people 50 and older as well as for people on specific drug regimens such as high blood pressure medication.

The company changed the name, but not the product. If you were taking Tylenol Extended Relief for something other than arthritis, you can now find that same product with the new name Tylenol Arthritis Extended Relief.

Check with your doctor before taking any medication or before making any change in diet. This is especially important for those who take prescription medicines because drugs can interact and some foods can interact with prescription drugs.

Winn Dixie has health information

The Mayo Clinic is installing health information centers in more than 600 Winn-Dixie and Thriftway pharmacies, including all Winn-Dixie pharmacies in South Florida. The centers will provide free literature and health tips on more than 100 common illnesses, diseases and health questions. The centers include a publication rack where the free materials are displayed, organized alphabetically by topic. On the back of the cards, Mayo Clinic offers advice about when to seek help from a healthcare provider. Brief health tips will be displayed along pharmacy aisles.

The health information centers should be in place by the end of the year.

exams to catch any vision problems early.

"Children can easily be mislabeled as 'poor learner,' when in actuality they may simply have a focusing or vision problem," stated Dr. Stuart Danker, a pediatric ophthalmologist. He said two conditions most often overlooked without proper vision screening are amblyopia (commonly called lazy eye) and focusing problems.

"Both conditions can affect how well a child learns," he stated.

The American Academy of Ophthalmology has compiled a list of risk factors for school-age children. If a child has a misaligned or "lazy" eye; a family history of eye problems; or was a premature birth, he or she might be more at risk for vision problems. Symptoms of vision problems can include frequent squinting and headaches that cannot be explained by other medical problems.

In a previous column, I noted that other health ailments could cause a child to be labeled as "learning disabled." For example, children who are allergic to food additives might have trouble concentrating.

Last week, I received a letter from the Contact Lens Council which stated that children who cannot see properly might also be mistakenly misdiagnosed as having a learning or behavior problem.

The council recommends that children have annual eye

"I'm calling to agree with the person who called Speak Out in the November 12 (about Belle Glade not progressing).

I came here in 1964 and this was a nice town. We had dress shops, a movie theatre, it was just an All-American small town.

Now we have nothing for families. We have no activities for our young people and the stores on Avenue A are all boarded up.

What has happened?

All I hear from people anymore is how they want to leave Belle Glade. Everything improves but Belle Glade. We need to do something.

Thank you."

Editor's note: We would be interested to hear from others on this subject, especially if they have constructive ideas on how to improve the area. The Roll Call

"As we look at our society through the eyes of our great grandparents we could see the tight knit of our society. Since their time we notice the very thread of our society is being pulled apart."

The reason why the pulling of the thread is so easy is because we are structurally knitted together. Starting from history to the very present, we as a society have knitted together three of the great power structures of all time. The three power structures are our military, our schools and our churches.

It's time to take a roll call. Starting with the military, let's take a roll call; Satan is here, the Red Dragon is here, the Anti-Christ is here, the demon is here, the legion is here and the serpent is here. All devils are present and accounted for.

Okay, now let's see something else; God is absent, Jesus Christ is absent and the Holy Ghost is absent.

It's the same situation for our schools and our churches. It's time to take a roll call."

Black-on-black and white-on-white crime

"Children, children. When children kill somebody, we put them on the back and put them away for two or three weeks and let them back out and say "go kill again." That is why they say there are going to be jobs, because while they are in a place somebody gets to babysit them.

It used to be blacks killing blacks, but now whites are killing whites.

We need to do something in a hurry before every child in this world is a killer and we don't know what parent will be next. Please hurry because parents don't have any rights."

Haunted house was great

"Hi. I'm calling about the haunted house that was held at the training center on State Road 80.

I'm just calling to thank all the people who were involved in the haunted house. My daughter and I attended it on a Friday night. We really enjoyed it.

I just want to say to all those people who think you have to go to the coast to have a good time, they need to start supporting such events as this and I hope they do it again next year.

Thank you."

Not worth the price

"I want to Speak Out about The Sun newspaper. I am sure more can be put in there than what is being put in the paper.

It doesn't have fifty cents or fifty-three cents worth of news in it.

With all the things that are happening around town it is highway robbery to ask that much.

I am sure you won't even print this in the paper. Thank you if you do."

Editor's note: I'm sorry you feel that way and I hope you are in the minority. I would venture to guess that you don't think twice while paying over a dollar for a small soft drink or a candy bar at the convenience store. The size of our news hole varies according to the amount of advertising in a particular issue. We strive to give the communities of Belle Glade, Pahokee, Canal Point and South Bay the best newspaper this area can support.

Also, have you ever considered purchasing a yearly subscription instead of buying it at a convenience store? The price is only 31 cents per issue. And, if you do so, the newspaper is delivered to your home with your Thursday mail.

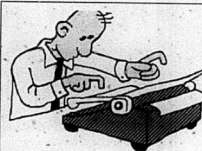

Thank you for Speaking Out. We welcome constructive criticism as well as compliments if you are pleased with our coverage.

"WHY ARE YOU LOOKING AT ME? I DIDN'T DO ANYTHING... ALWAYS LOOKING AT ME..."

"HE DIDN'T DO ANYTHING... THAT LOOK JUST KEEPS HIM STRAIGHT."

Letters to the Editor

Thanks to good samaritan

Dear Editor:

"I'd like to express a thank you to Deloris Powell of Pahokee. She found my prescription glasses which I dropped somewhere around the Chamber of Commerce in Pahokee.

My husband, Warren, went there to see if he could find them, but to no avail. He spoke to Dot at the Chamber office and let her know that they had been lost. Also, he notified the city police department and asked that if anyone should find my glasses, please notify us.

I called my optometrist in Palm Springs to alert them of my loss, since the doctor's name, address and telephone number was on the glasses' case. My understanding from Mrs. Swartz in Palm Springs several days later that she had received a telephone call from WBGF/WSWN Radio Station in Belle Glade that Mrs. Powell had found the glasses and turned them in to them.

They, in turn, notified Mrs. Swartz in Palm Springs and she then called me and told me that I could go to the radio station and identify my glasses.

I thanked them and also Phil Haire. I spoke to Mrs. Powell to thank her but she was not at home. I spoke to her daughter and asked if she would relay a message to her mother of my appreciation and my sincere thanks.

So, my comment to her is I would like to bake her a loaf of bread to take to her and also to thank her personally.

I'd also like to say that I have lost prescription glasses before but never have I received them back. This affirms my faith that there are honest people in our world today.

Gratefully,
Shirlee Ingram

Operation ABC Mobilization Nov. 23-29

Law enforcement expands national crackdown on drivers who don't buckle up children

By Carmelita Chavez

Operation America Buckles Up Children

Last May, 16-year-old Jana House heard a radio announcement about the Operation ABC Mobilization, a nationwide effort to protect children by cracking down on drivers who don't buckle children. So, she decided it was time she and her two younger sisters buckled up.

Three minutes later, a truck turned into her car, causing a crash that could have been fatal had they not heeded the radio message, which said: Drivers who don't buckle up children will be stopped and ticketed. No exceptions. No excuses.

Jane and her sisters were three of the more than six million additional Americans who buckled up because of the week-long crackdown last spring. And, the Memorial Day weekend death toll dropped by more than 35 percent from the previous year.

On the heels of this success, tens of thousands of law enforcement officers from all 50 states will again conduct the Operation ABC Mobilization, this time over the week of the Thanksgiving holiday.

"People don't understand that crashes are the leading cause of death to children, so they let kids ride unbuckled and unprotected," said Chief Ron Neubauer, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. "The possibility of being stopped and ticketed is one method to motivate adults to protect their kids and always insure that they use appropriate seat restraints."

With the official support of over 1,000 civic, corporate and advocacy organizations, more than 5,000 law enforcement agencies will, for the second time this year, conduct child safety checkpoints, saturation patrols and/or focus on child passenger safety violations during routine patrols throughout the week of November 23-29. Increasingly, officers also will be looking for adult belt law violations, since mounting research shows that adult belt use is the strongest predictor of child restraint use.

Despite the fact that the majority of Americans understand the benefits of seat belts and child restraints, and 49 states have a mandatory belt use law, only 69 percent of adults and only 60 percent of children are buckled up. "Each year, six out of ten children who die in crashes are unbelted. Nearly half of them would have survived if they'd been properly restrained," said Janet Dewey, executive director of the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign. "Far from trivial, this is tragic. The mobilization works to increase seat belt use and saves lives," she said.

The November 1998 Operation ABC Mobilization: America Buckles Up Children, sponsored by the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, is part of the Buckle Up America Campaign - an ongoing national safety initiative to increase seat belt use and save the lives of Americans.

For more information, please call (202) 625-2570 or visit the web site of the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign (www.nhtsa.gov/airbag.htm) or the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (www.nhtsa.dot.gov/).

It provides needed medical services to Glades residents.

• The Home Instruction Program for Preschool Youngsters (HIPPY), an alternative for children who can't get in Head Start.

• Several public forums, including an Economic Summit, a Youth Speak Out and the Families Forums.

During the Families Forums, a diverse group of over 400 families and youth discussed the concerns in areas such as family support, public safety, health, and adolescence.

The Rural Initiatives Conference presented residents with information and a process through which they established priorities in four areas:

agriculture, enterprise development, tourism, and workforce preparation.

Local city Charrettes were begun in 1994 and continued over the next several years.

• The EDGE Center was opened with Carl Seibert as the center director. The center offers entrepreneurs a chance to open their business in the Glades and receive help with start up costs.

• Vision to Action and the Acting on the Vision was a cadre of citizen leaders representing a diverse sector and interests who discussed the economic future of the Glades and incorporated strategies to help the area meet those economic goals.

• Potluck in the Muck began as a community performance over the Memorial Day weekend of 1998. The performers included women and men, girls and boys, African-American, European-American, and Hispanic in a Glades act of dance, singing and stories of the Glades.

GCDC has received grants from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation and the Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin Counties to continue their work in the Glades.

During the reception on Saturday, attendees received a magazine format booklet outlining the work of GCDC.

It was produced by Prudence Brown, a research fellow at the Chapin Hall Center for Children at the University of Chicago and Paul S. Statzer, Jr., a retired science teacher and environmental educator. The booklet includes photos taken by Mr. Statzer of the Glades and a history of the area.

SUN SPOTS

Rotary Club Turkey Shoot

The Belle Glade Rotary Club will hold a turkey shoot on Nov. 18 and 19 from 6 to 10 p.m. on Avenue L next to Flotation Tire. The community is invited to participate and try their luck at winning a Thanksgiving turkey.

Turkey Shoot at Elks Lodge in Pahokee

The Pahokee Elks Lodge will be having their annual turkey shoot on Saturday, Nov. 21 from 10 a.m. until dark and again on Sunday, Nov. 22 from noon until dark.

The community is invited to attend.

Risk Watch Safety Fair

A Risk Watch Safety Fair will be held at Belle Glade Elementary School on Monday, Nov. 23 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Risk Watch is a pilot program implemented in only a few schools in the United States by the National Fire Protection Agency.

The program is designed to teach elementary students about safety in the eight areas that were recognized as being the leading causes of accidental death to children.

The public is invited to attend the Risk Watch Safety Fair to learn more about fire safety.

Spay Shuttle docking in Glades

The Spay Shuttle, Palm Beach County's mobile spay/neuter clinic for dogs and cats, will be in the Glades area this week. The Spay Shuttle will be at Foodland Grocery, 600 E. Main Street in Pahokee on Wednesday, Nov. 18 through Friday, Nov. 20.

The Spay Shuttle will arrive between 8-9 a.m. for appointments.

During October, McDonald's of Belle Glade, Clewiston, and LaBelle donated 25 cents (a quarter back) to the local area high school athletic departments every time a Quarter Pounder with cheese was purchased. A total of $1,008.25 was donated to Glades Central, Clewiston and LaBelle High Schools. Pictured are owner Steve Nisbet presenting a check for Glades Central to Principal Dr. Grear.

Local talent and the show will be open for viewing all day in the Pahokee Fire Department station. Other local talent will be showcased with arts and crafts and the bake-off and auction. Some local churches and civic organizations will be providing food and refreshments.

The Classic Car Show promises to bring back fond memories for all of us," says Mr. Wright, "as we are treated to the fine workmanship and love that goes into restoring old cars."

Trophies and prizes will be awarded for several different categories.

"We can also boast that our festival not only encompasses land and lake, but also the skies," he said, "as skydivers provide us with aerial delights throughout the day."

The entertainment for the festival will be non-stop all day. On the main stage will be local talent, as well as three invited groups. These three are the Booth Brothers, Safe harbor, and the Trust Quartet.

Activities for the children will include a Kids Korner and Fritzy Brother, the One Man Circus will entertain the little ones. He juggles, eats fire, and rides a unicycle. The one man circus shows are at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. and the Clown Show is scheduled for 1 p.m.

At 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. there will be face painting and balloons for the children.

Children's Cloggers will perform during the day and some other surprises are also scheduled.

"Please do join us again this year for a perfect day of fun and sun on the lake," said Mr. Wright. The festival is free, as are the Kid's Korner activities and entertainment.

Participants are encouraged to help support the local Ministerial Association and the Food for Families campaign by bringing canned or non-perishable foods as an "entry fee." These items will remain in the Glades to help local needy neighbors.

Sorority News:

Laureate Gamma Zeta held an Octoberfest Social, Saturday, October 24 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Dexter.

Arrangements for this social were made by Jeanette Cearley, Edie Kirchman and Jeannette Dexter.

The social hour was followed by a typical German meal with knockwurst and bratwurst, German potato salad, strudel and all the trimmings prepared by Edie Kirchman.

Eighteen members enjoyed an evening of fellowship.

The Nu Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a meeting on November 11 at the home of Marsha Smith.

The program for the evening was "Junk Mail and Telemarketing Call Stop". Members also enjoyed various refreshments and a festive Fall ambience.

Business discussed included plans for Founder's Day and upcoming service projects. Betty Hodges gave a report on the chapter's most recent service project in which supplies were provided to victims of Hurricane Mitch. Other discussion included plans for a "rush" social to attract new members. The next regular meeting is scheduled for December 2 at the home of Tina Herring.

The November social for the sisters of Xi Zeta Mu was a breakfast at McDonald's in Belle Glade on Thursday, November 12th.

Those in attendance were: Sandra Chamblee, Karen Corbin, Laura Mae Enfinger, Janisse Goforth, Pat McKee, Judy McMillan, Linda McMillan, Sara Nell Phillips and Gloria Swager.

Xi Zeta Mu held their regular monthly meeting on Monday, October 26th at the home of Pat McKee who served as hostess. Laura Mae Enfinger served as co-hostess. Many of the sorority sisters dressed in costume for the Halloween season. The gift raffle winner was Greadle York.

Following the business meeting, Greadle York and Linda McMillan presented a program on varicose veins, and the Gylaine Lanctot Clinic.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 23rd at the home of Janisse Goforth.

Those in attendance were: Florence Acree, Sandra Chamblee, Karen Corbin, Laura Mae Enfinger, Janisse Goforth, Judy McMillan, Linda McMillan, Pat McKee, Laverne McKee, Sara Nell Phillips, Gloria Swager, Laurel Tarr and Greadle York.

Jews for Jesus Missionary at Community United Methodist Church

On the Sunday before Thanksgiving, November 22, Greg Savitt, a missionary for Jews for Jesus, will share a special presentation on "The Gospel in the Feasts of Israel" during the morning worship service at Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade. In Leviticus 23, seven feasts of Israel are listed that are still observed by Jews today: Passover, Unleavened Bread, First Fruits, Pentecost, Trumpets, Day of Atonement, and Booths. Mr. Savitt will explain the purpose of those feasts in being celebrated both then and now, and then he will show how the coming of Jesus fulfilled those feasts and gave them a larger meaning.

Greg was raised in a conservative Jewish home. At age 16, he attended a church service and, to his surprise, experienced a sense of peace and joy that he had never known before. At the time, Greg dismissed his feelings as illogical, but years later, as he attended yet another church service, the same feelings were rekindled. Eager to understand what was happening, Greg began attending church every week, but he could not come to terms with the possibility that a Jewish person might actually believe in Jesus. Then one evening, he attended a presentation by the Liberated Wailing Wall (Jews for Jesus' traveling music team) and understood that there is nothing more Jewish than believing in the promised Messiah of Israel. Now he looks forward to sharing the message of redemption through the Messiah with all who are ready to hear.

Jews for Jesus is the largest Jewish mission agency in the world, with branches in eight countries. A special offering will be received to help with the work of this organization.

The public is invited to attend the service, which begins at 10:55 a.m. A covered dish dinner will be held in Jameson Hall at noon following the service. Community United Methodist Church is located at 401 S.W. 1st Street in Belle Glade. A nursery is available for younger children.

Doney-Morris to wed

Pamala Lynn Doney and Jerry Edward Morris of Belle Glade are planning a double ring ceremony on November 28th, 1998 at 6 p.m.

Pamala, bride-elect, is the daughter of Thomas Doney and the late Ruby Doney of Belle Glade. She is employed by Wellington Regional Medical Center.

Jerry, bride-groom, is the son of J.E. Morris, of Clewiston and Nora Goddard of Belle Glade. Jerry is employed by Jay's Plumbing in Belle Glade.

The ceremony will take place at the Belle Glade Church of God. With the Reverend Browning officiating.

Friends and family are invited.

Weyna-Ramsey to wed

Robert and Priscilla Weyna of Seattle, WA are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter Cynthia Ann to Sean Patrick Ramsey son of W.C. (Buddy) and Joan Ramsey of Pahokee.

Miss Weyna is a graduate of Chief Sealth High School in Seattle and Renton Technological School. She is employed by Lease-Crutchers Lewis Surveyors.

Mr. Ramsey is a graduate of Glades Day School in Belle Glade. He is employed by ESM, Inc., a surveying company in the Seattle Area.

An August wedding is planned.

Military News:

Brutus

Marine Pfc. Jean W. Brutus, a 1992 graduate of Glades Central High School in Belle Glade, recently completed the Logistic Vehicle Systems Operator Course.

During the course with Marine Corps Detachment, U.S. Army Engineer School, Fort Leonard Wood, MO, students are taught the techniques and procedures needed to effectively perform all logistics operations on tactical motor transport vehicles.

He joined the Marine Corps in March 1998.

Nodal

Army Pfc. Leonard J. Nodal has entered basic military training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the eight weeks of training, the soldier will study the Army mission and will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, physical fitness, first aid, Army history and traditions, and special training in human relations.

Nodal is the son of Marcia C. and Leonardo Nodal of Belle Glade.

Romero

Navy Seaman Rafael A. Romero, son of Rafael and Christina A. Romero of Belle Glade, recently completed one of the largest NATO exercises of the year while on a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf aboard the amphibious assault ship

USS Saipan, the lead ship of the USS Saipan Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

During Dynamic Mix '98, Romero's ship trained with forces from 11 NATO nations in the 10-day exercise, which involved more than 60 ships and 170 aircraft. Ships of the USS Saipan ARG conducted amphibious cross-training with allied ships during the exercise, enhancing the interoperability and proficiency of participating forces in areas of amphibious assault operations, communications, tactics and supply.

Home ported in Norfolk, VA, Romero's ship and its embarked Marines present a formidable U.S. presence which can provide a rapid response in times of crisis. Sailors and Marines aboard USS Saipan can conduct a variety of missions from reconnaissance and amphibious assaults to evacuating civilians and providing humanitarian aid.

The 1995 graduate of Glades Central High School joined the Navy in July 1997.

Williams

Army Pvt. Antonio C. Williams has entered basic military combat training at Fort Knox, KY.

During the training, the trainee will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, physical fitness, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Williams is a 1998 graduate of Glades Central High

Education Partnership Awards of Palm Beach County Grants to 15 teachers

James Dean of Gladeview Elementary is congratulated by Palm Beach County School Board Chairperson Paulette Burdick. They are joined by (L to R) - Ron Last, Kate Gildan, George Elmore, Brad Hurlburt and Dari Bowman with the Education Partnership of Palm Beach County; and Tom Lynch, School Board member-elect.

The Education Partnership of Palm Beach County recently awarded nearly $6,500 in "License for Learning" grants to 15 Palm Beach County School District teachers. The ceremony took place at Royal Palm Beach High School.

Amounts given to each teacher ranged from $300 to $700 depending on the cost of the proposed program. The grants are made possible by funds that the Partnership receives from "License for Learning" auto tags sold to Palm Beach County residents. For each specialized license plate sold, the Partnership receives $15. The winning teachers in the Glades area and their schools are: James Dean-Gladeview Elementary; Shelly Miller, Linda Parody, Edna Stephens-Pioneer Park Elementary;

Geraldine Russell and Edna Stephens (jointly)-Pioneer Park Elementary; Linda Fisk for a project to be carried out in six schools: K.E.C. Canal Point Elementary, Belle Glade Elementary, Roosevelt Elementary, Pahokee Elementary, Gove Elementary and Gladeview Elementary.

"This is another excellent example of how the community is supporting the outstanding efforts of our teachers in our public school system. It is great that so many residents of Palm Beach County have purchased 'License for Learning' tags for their cars. This allows us to support innovative projects created by teachers to help our children learn," said Brad Hurlburt, president of the Education Partnership. He also noted the Economic Council of Palm Beach County for generously providing administrative support for the program.

The grants are awarded three times per year for educational programs that support the development of innovative programs to enhance the educational opportunities for Palm Beach County students. More than 100 applications were received for this round of awards. One more round will be conducted during this school year.

The Education Partnership of Palm Beach County is a nonprofit organization whose mission is to mobilize public-private partnerships and resources in support of world class public education. Programs sponsored by the Partnership include the Sun-Sentinel Success School Leadership Program, Citibank Success Fund, Dwyer Awards Winners Workshop, and World Class Schools, Business & Education Collaboration.

For more information, call 561-684-1551.

Gator Tales

by Jake Davis & Donna Dixon

Thanksgiving is around the corner and Glades Day students have a lot to be thankful for, especially in the wake of Hurricane Georges and Tropical Storm Mitch, which devastated areas in the Caribbean and also affected south Florida.

National Honor and Junior Honor Society members are reminding everyone how much better it is to share by sponsoring a Thanksgiving Food Drive. Students and faculty are encouraged to bring canned foods and other non-perishable items to their homerooms on this Thursday, November 19. The goods will be distributed next week to needy families in the Glades area.

Speaking of the NHS and NJHS, their induction ceremonies for new members will be Wednesday, December 2, in Tripp Hall. The 15 NHS and 12 NJHS inductees were selected by GDS faculty based on the qualities of leadership, service, scholarship and character.

The junior high, JV and varsity volleyball players were honored in an awards program held Tuesday, November 10, in the school's Tripp Hall. Recognizing all of the junior high girls for their enthusiasm and dedication in achieving a '12-1 season, junior high coaches Karen Hansford and Courtney Courson also awarded Co-MVP trophies to Megan Byrd and Crystal Doney, and Most Improved Player to Natalie Alvarez. JV Coach Rita Schoenfeld handed out trophies to Olivia Moya for MVP and to Melanie Walker for Most Improved.

Varsity coaches Gary Slade and Sherri Paez then presented awards to Hela Barhoush for Most Improved; Carmen Paez, Outstanding Defensive Player; Lindsay Curtiss, Coaches' Award; and Cristina Lockhart, MVP. Coach Slade also gave senior Amanda Snow an award as special recognition for her improved play and dedication.

Some GDS seniors got a taste of the college life when they visited Florida Gulf Coast University in Ft. Myers on November 9. The trip, organized by guidance counselors Rita Schoenfeld and Barbara Scruggs, took the students on a tour of the campus, including the classrooms and dorms. Some of the students were impressed enough to consider the new university in their plans for college next year!

The elementary Student Council is sponsoring a Thanksgiving dress-up day for the elementary Monday, November 23. An ice cream party will be awarded to the class with the highest percentage of pilgrims and Indians present.

We wish the best of luck to the varsity football team as they travel to Plantation to face American Heritage in the first round of the playoffs. They earned the playoff berth in an emotional, come-from-behind victory (33-28) over Moore Haven two weeks ago to secure the district runner-up spot. Good luck, guys!

Reaching for the stars at Treehouse Learning Center was the theme for this 1st place winning float. Special thanks to the community of Belle Glade for their purchase of raffle tickets to help fund the float, special thanks to the parents at Treehouse for selling the raffle tickets. Many thanks to Julio at Mulo, Inc. for his generous contribution allowing us to use his truck and trailer.

Muck Bowl '98

SUNPHOTO by Robbie Everett

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, these Devils know they've got the game under control

As the Raiders and Blue Devils stepped onto the field
And looked around, they said,
"This is it, guys. Let's play the Muck Bowl!!!"
And as far as the eyes of the players could see
Fans were everywhere, no room to be found.
Watching these young men, Champions in their own right
With talent outstanding, the best all around.
Ten thousand fans had come from far and wide
To the Muck Bowl to watch these Champions Collide.
When the dust cleared and all was said and done
the Blue Devils (34-14) this game had won.

Blue Devils break Raiders winning streak

By Robbie Everett

The Muck Bowl is deeply rooted in the annals of Glades history dating back to rivalries between the Pahokee Beanpickers vs Belle Glade Rams and the Lakeshore Bobcats and East Lake Hawks. Although these two teams are not in the same Florida High School Athletic Association division, the bragging rights of being the best on the muck for a season is important. Statewide the muck is known to produce lots of well developed, talented youngsters who go on to compete at the state, college and professional levels from their humble beginning. And we all remember the sports they started in. We were all proud to watch Fred Taylor and Reidell Anthony (Raiders) represent the Glades Sunday night as the Bucs and Jaguars met in the statewide rivalry.

A classic end to Glades area football and, a perfect season (10-0) for Pahokee. Both teams are ranked #1 in their respective divisions and the top two teams in the district. The Blue Devils, led by Senior quarterback Anquan Boldin, took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter and never relinquished it. Most interesting about this lead is the offense never had possession in the first quarter. Charles Edwards, Jr. recovered a blocked field goal attempt and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Boldin ran in the next two touchdowns from 1 yard out. The Blue Devils lead 20-0 at half time.

Early in the third quarter with Boldin taking a break, the Raiders were able to score on an interception tipped into the hand of Rounds. Pahokee answered that score with a second defensive score. Jawarski Bouie returned a fumble 46 yards for a touchdown with Desmond Ricketts' running in the two point conversion. Ricketts led in rushing with 11 for 105 yards. Octavious Jackson caught a 67-yard pass for the Blue Devils final score. Jackson finished the evening with three catches for 134 yards.

Pahokee's defense, led by Nodrick Boldin, Octavious Bouie, Eric Moore, and Demetrius Fitzgerald, held the Raiders to one offensive score on the evening. The Raiders put together a scoring drive in the fourth quarter that ended in a 3-yard run by Gibbons and a kick by Huerta to narrow the Blue Devils win to 34-14.

Both teams will host the first round of the FHSAA play-offs Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., Glades Central vs Key West and Pahokee vs Cocoa Beach. It would be great to have both teams traveling to Gainesville the third weekend in December. We could have a Muck Bowl Celebration for two groups of youngsters who are true champions.

Gators defeated by Key West, 21-18

By Trey Alana

The Gators of Glades Day played a wonderful game against the Conchs of Key West.

The Gator players had the lead at half-time and reclaimed it again in the fourth quarter, but on the last chance to take the kill, the Gators lost the ball and were unable to recoup.

The Gator defense was strong throughout the game and the offense was able to benefit from that strength. Sophomore QB Kyle McNamara played an excellent game and subsequently was emboldened in every score by the Gators; he threw both Gator touchdowns and scored a field goal early in the second quarter.

The beginning of the game was very listless with only one touchdown scored by the Conchs. Later, in the second quarter, McNamara came through with a field goal. Senior Boo Baez received a 12-yard pass from McNamara and scored the touchdown. The extra point was unsuccessful. This gave the Gators a one-point lead at half-time. The score at the half was 10-9.

The Conchs were able to get another touchdown in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter and with 8:20 remaining on the scoreboard, McNamara threw a pass to senior Donnie Scruggs for the touchdown. The two point conversion was completed by tailback James Holman who ran 132 yards on 35 carries. The Conchs scored the last touchdown of the game. The final score was 21-18.

"We played very good and well enough to win this game," said Coach Pete Walker. "The team has shown me they are ready for the playoffs," he said.

The Gators will go into the playoffs next week. "It's gonna be war," said the coach.

SUNPHOTO by Trey Alana

Despite their loss against Key West Conchs last Friday night, the Gators played a great season. A job well done.

Muck Bowl '98

SUNPHOTO by Robbie Everett
At the beginning of the fourth quarter, these Devils know they've got the game under control

As the Raiders and Blue Devils stepped onto the field
And looked around, they said,
"This is it, guys. Let's play the Muck Bowl!!!"
And as far as the eyes of the players could see
Fans were everywhere, no room to be found.
Watching these young men, Champions in their own right
With talent outstanding, the best all around.
Ten thousand fans had come from far and wide
To the Muck Bowl to watch these Champions Collide.
When the dust cleared and all was said and done -
the Blue Devils (34-14) this game had won.

Blue Devils break Raiders winning streak

By Robbie Everett

The Muck Bowl is deeply rooted in the annals of Glades history dating back to rivalries between the Pahokee Beampickers vs Belle Glade Rams and the Lakeshore Bobcats and East Lake Hawks. Although these two teams are not in the same Florida High School Athletic Association division, the bragging rights of being the best on the muck for a season is important. Statewide the muck is known to produce lots of well developed, talented youngsters who go on to compete at the state, college and professional levels from their humble beginning. And we all remember the sports they starred in. We were all proud to watch Fred Taylor and Reidell Anthony (Raiders) represent the Glades Sunday night as the Bucs and Jaguars met in the statewide rivalry.

A classic end to Glades area football and a perfect season (10-0) for Pahokee. Both teams are ranked #1 in their respective divisions and the top two teams in the district. The Blue Devils, led by Senior quarterback Anquan Boldin, took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter and never relinquished it. Most interesting about this lead is the offense never had possession in the first quarter. Charles Edwards, Jr. recovered a blocked field goal attempt and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Boldin ran in the next two touchdowns from 1 yard out. The Blue Devils lead 20-0 at half-time.

Early in the third quarter with Boldin taking a break, the Raiders were able to score on an interception tipped into the hand of Rounds. Pahokee answered that score with a second defensive score. Jawarski Bouie returned a fumble 46 yards for a touchdown with Desmond Ricketts' running in the two point conversion. Ricketts led in rushing with 11, for 105 yards. Octavious Jackson caught a 67-yard pass for the Blue Devils final score. Jackson finished the evening with three catches for 134 yards.

Pahokee's defense, led by Nedrick Boldin, Octavious Bouie, Eric Moore, and Demetrius Fitzgerald, held the Raiders to one offensive score on the evening. The Raiders put together a scoring drive in the fourth quarter that ended in a 3-yard run by Gibbons and a kick by Huerta to narrow the Blue Devils win to 34-14.

Both teams will host the first round of the FHSA play-offs Friday evening at 7:30 p.m.; Glades Central vs Key West and Pahokee vs Cocoa Beach. It would be great to have both teams traveling to Gainesville the third weekend in December. We could have a Muck Bowl Celebration for two groups of youngsters who are true champions.

Gators defeated by Key West, 21-18

By Trey Alava

The Gators of Glades Day played a wonderful game against the Conchs of Key West.

The Gator players had the lead at half-time and reclaimed it again in the fourth quarter, but on the last chance to take the kill, the Gators lost the ball and were unable to recoup.

The Gator defense was strong throughout the game and the offense was able to benefit from that strength. Sophomore QB Kyle McNamara played an excellent game, and subsequently was embodied in every score by the Gators; he threw both Gator touchdowns and scored a field goal early in the second quarter.

The beginning of the game was very listless with only one touchdown scored by the Conchs. Later, in the second quarter, McNamara came through with a field goal. Senior Boo Baez received a 12-yard pass from McNamara and scored the touchdown. The extra point was unsuccessful. This gave the Gators a one-point lead at half-time. The score at the half was 10-9.

The Conchs were able to get another touchdown in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter and with 8:20 remaining on the scoreboard, McNamara threw a pass to senior Donnie Scruggs for the touchdown. The two point conversion was completed by tailback James Holman who ran 132 yards on 35 carries. The Conchs scored the last touchdown of the game. The final score was 21-18.

"We played very good and well enough to win this game," said Coach Pete Walker. "The team has shown me they are ready for the playoffs," he said.

The Gators will go into the playoffs next week. "It's gonna be war," said the coach.

Despite their loss against Key West Conchs last Friday night, the Gators played a great season. A job well done.

Florida Game & Fresh Water considers three new wildlife management areas

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) will consider establishing three new wildlife management areas (WMAs) and expanding two other WMAs during its Nov. 19-20 meeting in Tallahassee. Staff proposals include establishing the Lake Panasoffkee (Sumter County), Potts (Citrus County), Green Swamp, West Unit (Sumter County), Joe Budd, Rocky Comfort Unit (Gadsden County), and Lake Marion Creek (polk and Osceola counties) WMAs. In addition, Commissioners will consider establishing special-opportunity turkey hunts in the Green Swamp West Unit, Lake Panasoffkee, and Potts WMAs. Another proposed rule change would authorize extending shooting hours for spring turkey hunting season to include one half-hour before sunrise until sunset, rather than the current shooting hours of one half-hour before sunrise to 1 p.m. The proposed rule change would not apply to WMAs, however. Another proposed rule would prohibit the taking of hen turkeys during the fall archery and muzzleloading gun seasons. In other business, Commissioners will consider:

- Authorizing the purchase of 2,923-acre addition to the Okaloocooches Slough.
- Adding a 15,043-acre Gilman Paper Company tract to its Preservation 2000 acquisition list.
- A staff report concerning the Constitution Revision 5, which merges the GFC with the Marine Fisheries Commission.
- Commission budget shortfall and possible remedies.
- Hunter responsibility rule update.
- Cost analysis for non-CARL WMAs.
- A staff report concerning resolving human/bear conflicts, and

- Selection of the 1999-2000 state waterfowl and turkey stamp art contest winners.

Commissioners plan to recognize Representative Janegale Boyd for her efforts during the legislative session to maintain and increase recreational opportunities for hunters in Florida; retired administrative secretary Ruth Stanbridge for 34 years of service to the GFC; and retired property administrator Helen Higgins for 27 years of service to the agency. Meetings will begin at 9 a.m. both days, and all GFC meetings are open to the public.

Car of the Century roadshow beginning

By Alex Law
Test Drive

The Car of the Century Show was scheduled to make several visits to the U.S. during the next 18 months during its world-wide tour, but its first appearance in North America will be in Toronto from Aug. 21 to Sept. 7.

The show features the 100 classic international vehicles nominated by a panel of automotive writers from around the world for the prestigious Car of the Century (COTC) award.

It won't be until some time at the end of December, 1999 (a precise date has not been set), that the ultimate winner will be announced on a live TV broadcast from Las Vegas.

Contributed photo
Volvo has decided not to bring a diesel version of the Passat, above, to the North American market after promising one.

The COTC travelling show is highly unique because it features cars from all parts of the world and all ages of the last 100 years. So as well as the familiar (Beetles, Mustangs, Jaguars and so on) there'll also be cars that are rarely even seen here in books.

Along with rare and historic vehicles, all venues of the show will have displays that will allow members of the public to vote for their choice of Car of the Century.

Public input will be taken for about the next year, either at the travelling show or over the internet. The 10 cars chosen by the public will be added to the list of nominees if they haven't already been selected by the members of the professional jury.

The Car of the Century program was created by a Dutch auto writer named Fred van der Vlugt and involves a 118-person international jury from more than 30 countries, which includes myself and about 15 other North Americans.

Early on, a special sub-committee of the jury considered the thousands of potential vehicles from around the world and sent a list of 200 names to the jury last spring.

The jury pared that down to the list of 100 vehicles that is now going before the public for its consideration.

From the 25 to 35 nominees picked by the jury and the public and made known in March of next year, the jury will vote again to reduce the possibilities to a final five. They will be announced at the start of the TV show and then the jury will pick the winner during the live telecast.

Sometime soon, a website will be opened to the public that will feature details of the process and the nominated cars as well as a venue for voting.

Janice Height of the CNE says the 100,000-square-foot show will be held in the Automotive building of the facility on the shores of Lake Ontario and will be part of the Ex's one price entry fee. While 1998's price has not been set, it was $11 per person last year.

Diesel Passat cancelled for U.S.

Volkswagen North America has cancelled plans to make the 4-cylinder engine diesel engine in Passat available to U.S. consumers. Anyone who ordered the car has been told that the product is no longer available.

According to people inside VW, the decision not to sell the diesel engine was made by the company's chairman following a drive in a model destined for North America.

Because Dr. Ferdinand Piech did not like the general driveability of the diesel Passat, the VW source says, he ordered that they all be withdrawn from sale, and that's what happened.

The question of why VW would be willing to sell a product with such poor driveability was not answered.

Volvo creates smaller, more affordable, line. Some time in 1999, the U.S. will have a smaller and less expensive Volvo line to pick from.

The Swedish company has announced that the S40 sedan and the V40 wagon will be imported from the NedCar factory in The Netherlands to North America, beginning with the U.S. in 1999 and expanding to Canada the year after.

Current plans are to bring about 25,000 vehicles a year to North America, which probably means at least 22,000 of them will be destined for the U.S.

According to Helge Alten, president and CEO of Volvo Cars of North America, "the sleek, small platform cars are part of Volvo's plan to attract

Study shows danger to cars from pickups, SUVs and minivans

By Alex Law
Test Drive

DETROIT, MI. — In the parlance of everyday wisdom it would be "Pick on someone your own size," but in the recent study from the chief highway safety agency it's described as "The aggressivity of light trucks and vans in traffic crashes."

No matter how you describe it, though, it spells the likelihood of bad news for people in a car who collide with a pickup truck or a sport-ute or a minivan.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Agency (NHTSA), a crash between what it calls something in the LTV (light trucks and vans) segment and a car "a disproportionate number of the fatalities are incurred by the car occupants."

In the conclusion to a paper they presented at the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) World Congress here, Hampton C. Gabler and William T. Hollowell of NHTSA made plain the dangers they found in reviewing the statistics on crashes between LTVs and cars.

Car occupants killed more often. LTVs now account for over one-third of light vehicles on U.S. highways, they reported, but "collisions between cars and LTVs lead to over 50 per cent of all fatalities in light vehicle-to-vehicle collisions."

People in cars are more likely to die or be hurt in a crash with an LTV, the researcher said, because of a "striking incompatibility between cars and all categories of LTVs."

In 1996, LTV-car crashes accounted for 5,259 fatalities while car-car crashes led to 4,013 deaths and LTV-LTV crashes resulted in 1,225 fatalities.

Of the 5,259 fatalities in LTV-car crashes in 1996, 81 per cent of the fatally-injured were occupants of the car. Gabler and Hollowell's report also makes it clear that an LTV is particularly dangerous to a car's occupants in a side impact crash. Crashes in which an LTV "was the bullet vehicle led to 56.9 per cent of all fatalities in side-struck vehicles," they found.

Size matters

According to the NHTSA report, "a comparison of LTVs and cars reveals that the LTVs are more aggressive than cars for a number of reasons including their greater weight, stiffer structure, and higher ride height."

So it is that a small pickup, for example, would likely cause more damage than a sedan of the same weight.

The study was able to assign what it called Aggressivity Matrix (AM) to each kind of vehicle and even to specific models, using various sophisticated crash statistics from 1991 to 1994.

So the worst kind of vehicle to be a crash with was a full size van, which earned an Aggressivity Matrix of 2.47. After that it is full size pickups with 2.31, sport-utility vehicles at 1.81, small pickups at 1.53, minivans at 1.46, large cars at 1.15, mid-size cars at 0.70, compact cars at 0.58, and subcompact cars at 0.45.

From the same data, the NHTSA researchers determined that the follow-

Second-generation S-Series A Solid Buy

By Jeremy Cato

First there was 1982. Then came 1994. Those are the important years in the history of small trucks from General Motors.

For 1992, GM finally entered a segment of the market where to date the Japanese imports — Nissan, Toyota and Mazda — had ruled supreme. The Chevrolet S-10 compact pickup had arrived.

Yet it still took another year before four-wheel-drive and an extended-cab version arrived. It was another year on that for a serious off-road package to make its debut.

Then 12 years from when the S-10 was first introduced, in 1994, Chevrolet and GMC brought us re-made versions of their little light-duty pickups, the S-10 and the Sonoma respectively.

Along the way some milestone dates to note:

1985 — 2.5-liter EFI (electronic fuel injection) engine replaces 2.2-liter;

1986 — 2.8-liter V6 gets EFI

1988 — 4.3-liter EFI V6 an option

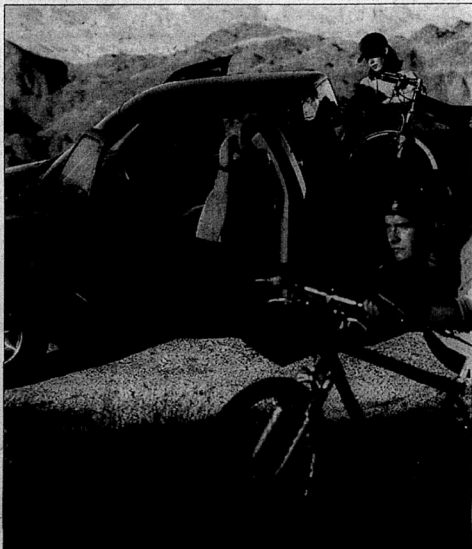

1992 — electronic-shift transfer case optional for four-wheel-drive models.

Through the years there were a variety of equipment and feature enhancements. But nothing serious until 1994 — when GM gathered new resolve to recapture some of the small truck market that had drifted to the competition.

For '94, Chevy changed the focus from the name S-10 to the broader "S-Series" for a family of new small trucks — two- and four-wheel drive, extended and regular cab, short and long bed. And the '94 trucks were drastically better than the ones they replaced.

The styling was more rounded, modern looking, while inside the new cockpit grew considerably more stylish, roomy and comfortable. Build quality took a giant leap forward. Twelve years with so little improvement gave GM lots of opportunity to do a job on these trucks, and the engineers and designers went about their work with due diligence.

Aside from design and functionality improvements too numerous to mention here, ride and handling were refined, with the key being a stiffer, reinforced frame. That change, in turn, allowed engineers to tune the S-Series suspension for greater smoothness and responsiveness.

A third door was first offered as an option on the 1996 Chevrolet S-Series/GMC Sonoma pickups. (1997 model shown).

Naturally, the box was improved, too — with inside pockets for two-tier loading and cargo tie-downs at all four corners. Even the redesigned tailgate was made so that it could be removed without tools. Thoroughly modern.

As for the engines, a more powerful 2.2-liter four-cylinder replaced the old base 2.5-liter four and two versions of the 4.3 V-6 engines were made available; one rated at 165 hp, the other at 195 hp.

By '95, a driver's side airbag was added and all the engines were improved again. For '96, a third door was added as an option on extended cab trucks, along with four-wheel anti-lock braking. And today, there are dual airbags up front with a cut-off switch for the passenger side.

For nearly-new buyers, most likely the best year for these trucks is 1995 — primarily because of the engine enhancements that year and a series of build-quality upgrades.

Truth is, GM spends little money marketing its small trucks, and that's a shame; today they are very competitive when matched up against rivals and two-and three-year-old versions aren't bad buys at all.

younger, family oriented consumers who desire Volvo's core values in a distinctive, sophisticated and fun-to-drive automobile."

Alten says, "Volvo is broadening its product offering to reach a wider target audience" with these cars, which he says will "tap into the pre-family market."

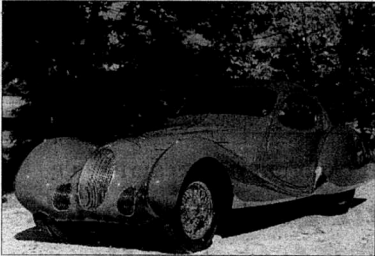

North American variants will have a 100.4-inch wheelbase and incorporate a 1.9-liter, inline-4, light-pressure turbocharged engine generating 160 hp @ 5,100 rpm with 170 foot-pounds of torque.

Before this car arrives, however, Volvo will unveil a brand new line of premium S90 and V90 models this fall.

These completely new models, which will be powered by a dual-turbocharged engine, will take Volvo even farther into the luxury car range, which means to $45,000 and beyond.

The SV40 models will be entry-level vehicles, meaning they'll likely start somewhere north of $20,000 when they get here.

Fast heat

The Car of the Century will give auto buffs the chance to see some cars rarely viewed on these shores, such as the nominated Talbot-Lago, above, built in France during 1938-39.

Instant heat on the coldest days and reduced emissions all year-round are the two main benefits of a new system that's expected to come onto the market later this year.

Centaur Thermal Systems Inc. of Michigan expects that its Heat Storage System will be going into various vehicles as a dealer-installed option in a few months and will then become part of new cars and trucks shortly thereafter.

The system is the next iteration of a product designed and built in Germany, called the Schatz Heat Battery, but it is considerably evolved from the original. It will be built in a new facility an hour southwest of Toronto, Canada.

According to Centaur's general manager, Ed Niewinski, the system "recovers waste heat from a car's engine and stores it for release on the next cold start of the engine."

In laboratory cold chamber tests and in actual winter driving when it was 15 degrees to minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit, Niewinski says, "warm air was flowing on the hands and face of the driver within six to 10 seconds after engine start-up, and to passengers in the rear of the cabin within 30 to 45 seconds."

You've probably never timed your vehicle's current heater system, but you know from experience that it takes a lot longer than that to deliver warm air.

At the same time as it's warming up the cabin, the Centaur Heat Storage System can also be sending heat to the engine, which can vastly reduce the engine's cold-start emissions while improving fuel economy at the same time.

In Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) tests, the Centaur system improved cold-start fuel economy by 2.1 miles per gallon at 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

On the emissions front, Niewinski says, EPA tests showed that the Heat Storage System "dramatically reduces cold start emissions, and the colder the temperatures the more effective the system."

Tests in 19 degree Fahrenheit weather showed reductions of up to 50 percent in carbon monoxide and up to 30 percent in unburned hydrocarbons, and Niewinski describes that as "significantly lower emissions."

The Heat Storage System is already being built for the German market, where it is an option on VW Golf and Passat models.

As to when it will start to show up on U.S. cars, Niewinski is not certain. He expects to have it on the market in time for next winter as a dealer-installed option.

Speculation has put a price tag of $300 and up on the system, though early consumer research suggests that the public might be willing to go as high as $600 if the system were good enough.

That may seem like a lot, but it's less than the cost of an air conditioning unit, which essentially performs the reverse function of a Heat Storage System in the summer.

inherent risks of cars when they're in crashes with LTVs also show that modern cars are safer in collisions with bigger vehicles than are older cars.

Ford showed that in a media session the same day as the NHTSA study was released, and there's some comfort in knowing that.

Unfortunately, Ford also admitted that there's no way you can equalize the safety ratings of cars and LTVs, since large is always going to beat small.

BUYER'S ALERTS:

It would be fair to say that the first S-10 trucks arrived a bit prematurely - before all the bugs had been worked out, in other words. Be wary of trucks built in the '80s.

Safety recalls include one for driveline clunk noises, another for improperly installed steering wheels, and one for problems with push-pull headlights; the Warner five-speed transmission, the front brakes; and excessive emissions.

Through the '80s watch out for problems with the rear planet gear (lack of lubrication), with the outside mirror's (vibration), general wind noise, poor power steering assist in cold weather, misalignment of the box to the cab, and general fit and finish issues. Through the years there have also been complaints about the shifting performance of the automatic transmission - including the lack of passing gear at higher speeds.

The re-made trucks of '94, especially early build versions, also had a variety of fit and finish issues which were largely resolved as the years went by. Among other things, look for evidence of water leaks and excessive front bushing wear.

Regardless, insist on a thorough mechanical inspection.

THE VERDICT:

Trucks built after the 1995 model year are your best bet.

PROS

- Huge changes starting in '94 put GM's small trucks back in the race.

- Newer trucks have very good ride and handling.

- Third door for '96 extended cab a unique (optional) feature.

- By '95 the powertrain offerings were among the very best.

CONS

- Numerous problems through the '80s and early '90s are cause for caution if buying an older truck.

FROM LAST WEEK

BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL

For a racing season finale, the Busch Series final stop in Florida proved to be all the excitement fans could have expected. Despite ending early in Sunday's Jiffy Lube ahead of Matt Kenseth for the title.

While the points title was a look after lap one, Jeff Burton, Jimmy Spencer and Mark Martin conspired to make the race itself as exciting a finish as possible at the Miami-Dade Homestead Motorsports Complex.

Burton took the checkered flag, winning the second-closest three-way finish in Busch history.

Burton's margin of victory was .01 second over Jimmy Spencer with Mark Martin finishing right on the leaders' bumpers.

FROM THE ARCHIVES:

The rich history of NASCAR "Tiger" Tom Pistone paved the way for other Midwest-ers when he came south from Chicago in the 1950s. He totaled two victories, six runner-up finishes, nine thirds, four fourths and eight fifths in a Grand National (now Winston Cup) career that lasted from 1955 through 1968. His earnings over 131 career starts? A mere $45,684.

Hendrick says Roush 'crossed the line' with cheating claim

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

According to John Hendrick, president of Team Hendrick, rival car owner Jack Roush only harmed the efforts of Mark Martin when he accused Hendrick driver Jeff Gordon and crew chief Ray Everham of cheating during the second half of the Winston Cup season.

"We knew there was nothing to the accusations," said Hendrick. "Jack crossed the line by blatantly saying that we were cheating. We welcomed the investigation by NASCAR. Things like that are what motivate Ray Everham. It made him work that much harder and focus even harder." Gordon won 10 of the last 18 races en route to his third title, while Martin slumped to a distant second in the standings.

On the COMEBACK TRAIL: One other matter, John Hendrick said that his brother Rick will devote considerable time to his NASCAR interests next year. The elder Hendrick spent the current season as a bystander, both because of legal troubles and his battle with leukemia. A judge's ban on Rick Hendrick's participation in the affairs of Team Hendrick expires on Dec. 31. "He (Rick) will be able to be back on site and be active any way he wants to," said John Hendrick on Tuesday. "He will be heavily involved next year, but it's been very difficult."

Describing his brother's medical condition, John added, "It's not in complete remission, but very close. An updated test will be conducted in December. So far every test has been better. His energy is coming back. The infection treatment gives him out quickly. I'm worried about Rick's tendency to overdo it, but we'll watch him closely. "We'll have to consult with the doctors and try to gauge how much it (racing) tires him out. That schedule is awful hectic for someone in great physical condition. I've got a new admiration for those who do it week in and week out."

THE NEW MONTE CARLO: Team Hendrick has constructed only one prototype of the new Monte Carlo, which most GM teams hope will be introduced next May in the Coca-Cola 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway. "It's changed a little bit (from earlier depictions)," said John Hendrick. "NASCAR is going to look at it and it determines what changes they make on it. We've only done one superspeedway car for Chevrolet. There's no need to build any more until NASCAR makes its modifications."

Jeff Gordon '98 Highlights

Jeff Gordon's Winston Cup championship season included the following highlights:

■ Gordon won 13 races, the most in one season since Richard Petty won 13 in 1975.

■ Twice Gordon won $1 million Winston No Bull Five bonuses, at Indianapolis and Talladega.

■ He tied a modern record by winning four races in a row.

■ He fell one short of an all-time record by finishing in the top five in 17 consecutive races. David Pearson holds the all-time record with 18, set in 1969.

■ He became the first two-time winner of the Brickyard 400.

■ In a career that began only in 1993, he has won at 17 tracks, or every track on the circuit except Phoenix, Texas and Las Vegas. No other driver has won at more than 16.

■ He won a third Winston Cup championship at the earliest age of any driver in history. Pearson was 31 when he won his third (and final); Petty was 34 when he won the third of seven.

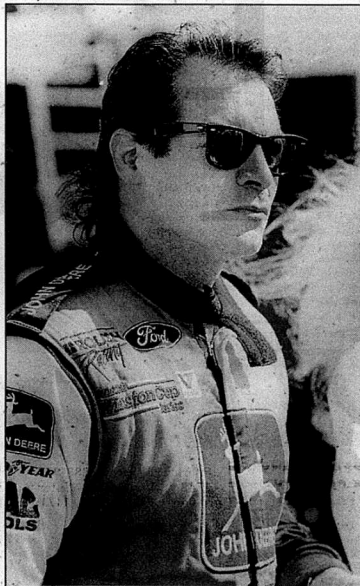

■ He accumulated more points in a season than any driver in history, and his average number of points per race was second only to Cale Yarborough's showing in 1977.

■ Gordon won 39.4 percent of the season's races.

■ He became the first driver in modern history to win 10 or more races three years in a row.

PROFILE

Chad Little

John Clark/NASCAR This Week

Chad Little is hoping to have as much success in Winston Cup as he's had while racing Busch Grand National.

WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO

BE A WINNER? Ask any driver in the garage area and he'd probably answer, 'Four fresh tires that never wear out, even when everyone else's tires are hot and worn away.' We haven't found that set of magic tires yet, but

I've learned that the secret to success is momentum. It's difficult to describe how important momentum is to a race team, and it's even harder to single out the reasons why some teams have it and other teams don't. It isn't tangible like a chassis or an engine, so you can't fix it with the turn of a wrench. When it's on your side, though, the engine runs a little faster and the car handles a little better. Pit stops are smoother, and the car cruises past accidents on the track as if it were guided by an unseen force. If I could bottle momentum, I certainly wouldn't sell it."

WHAT IS IMPORTANT

ABOUT RACING THAT MOST FANS DON'T UNDERSTAND? "What most people don't realize is that every minute you spend at a race track is critical. Just as a second saved on pit road can gain a driver several positions on the track, five minutes of hard work during a Friday-afternoon practice session can mean the difference between winning and losing the race."

TRIVIA

1. Who won the first Busch Grand National race ever held?
2. Who was the first Busch Grand National driver to win $1 million in a season?

WHO'S HOT? Jeff Gordon's average finish was 1.74 down the stretch.

WHO'S NOT? Darrell Waltrip will attempt to end a long slump by strapping himself into Robert Yates' No. 88 this week.
